PA NEW OBSERVES

Several enterprising business houses proprietors in East Washington street have displayed civic pride and added a nice coat of paint to their establishments. In addition one of them has improved the second story and it presents a neat display.

Why sweep rubbish from a business place into the cartway? It stays there until the city sweepers operate. Such a sight doesn't add to this being a well kept city.

The sweepers operate at midnight tonight, hence the warning of Street Commissioner W. G. Fleming: "If desired, the operator of the sweeper, when a car prevents operation of the sweeper, may have the offending auto towed to a garage."

Indications are the city-WPA projects are dying slowly. Only a few jobs are under way. It appears as though the State street curve danger will remain for another year. Why not do something to save life and property?

Weather conditions this morning indicated that the South Siders were going to get a break for their annual outing at Cascade Park this afternoon and evening. The weather outlook was fine during the morning.

Maybe it's the war, and maybe it's just a natural growth in population, but births at the Jameson Memorial hospital this month are running well ahead of the average. One local baby doctor stated today that he has had more cases this month than at any other time during the history of his practice.

All Suspects Being Rounded Up In Bolivia

Numerous High Ranking Army Officers Under Arrest In Nazi Plot

(International News Service)
LA PAZ, Bolivia, July 22.—Numerous high ranking Bolivia army officers, including six at the La Paz National Military College, were under arrest today as the government moved to round up all suspects in an alleged Nazi plot to stage a coup and set up a dictatorship in Bolivia.

Many civilians, including a number of German residents, were taken into custody in La Paz and in the Province of Cochabamba.
Meanwhile the government notified the German minister to La Paz, Ernst Wendler, that he must leave the country today at the latest. He has been declared persona non grata for alleged complicity in the plot.

Wendler issued an official statement denying the charges against him. He declared he had participated in no manner whatever in Bolivian politics. The government made it clear, meanwhile, the expulsion order does not apply to Wendler's subordinates.

The Nazi minister said he planned to depart today, via Chile.
The La Paz newspaper Ultima Hora stated secret police discovered three secret radio transmitters in the homes of German businessmen and large caches of arms in the offices of German companies.

DAY'S WAR DEVELOPMENTS

War in the air, from Moscow to Suez and from the Mediterranean to the North Sea, took the spotlight today.

For hours last night German bombers heavily attacked Moscow for the first time during the struggle. A dozen big bombs, according to Berlin, hit the Kremlin district. The Nazis said the Russian capital was rendered unfit as an administrative center.

At least one German bomb fell within 200 yards of the Kremlin walls, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Moscow. A crater was blasted in front of the American embassy in Magna Square. The attack may have "dis-

British Continue To Hammer Germany

(International News Service)
LONDON, July 22.—British bombers hammered objectives in western Germany during the night and early today and also roared up and down the French invasion coast while Nazi raiders attacked several sections of Britain.
While the R. A. F. pounded industrial sectors of the Reich, the air ministry said a few German planes dropped bombs on East Anglia, demolishing houses and causing a number of casualties.
A few bombs were dropped on other areas, causing only minor damage and no casualties. One of these regions was a southwestern coastal town, where only slight damage was done.
Industrial centers hit
The British planes heavily bombed the industrial centers of Frankfurt and Mannheim in Germany while smaller R. A. F. forces attacked the docks at Cherbourg and Ostend.
This morning planes of the R. A. F. coastal command bombed a military camp on the west coast of Denmark.
One British plane was lost in all these operations.
Earlier in the evening the R. A. F. carried out offensive patrols over the channel and the French coast, with strong formations of fighters operating at different altitudes.
These patrols extended beyond the French coast in the Boulogne-Calais section.
The air ministry announced one German fighter was destroyed during the offensive sweep over the channel and northern France and that three British fighters were lost.

Find Two Sisters Dead In Apartment

Police Believe Brooklyn Tragedy To Be Murder And Suicide, No Motive Found

(International News Service)
NEW YORK, July 22.—Murder and suicide was the police verdict today in the deaths of two sisters who were found shot to death in their Brooklyn apartment.

The women, Mrs. Beatrice Hoffman, 40, and Mrs. Caroline Beardslee, 42, her widowed sister, were found by Mrs. Hoffman's husband, Capt. Arthur J. Hoffman, 49, retired army officer, when he returned from a week-end hunting trip.

Mrs. Hoffman had been wounded three times in her chest. Her body lay on a bed. Nearby, slumped in a chair, was the body of her sister, with bullet wounds in the chest and right temple. In Mrs. Beardslee's lap was an old-style army pistol.

Both women were fully clothed and police found no signs of a struggle. Shots had been fired at close range. Police said they believed Mrs. Beardslee had shot her sister before taking her own life, but added that they had been unable thus far to determine a motive.

New Controversy On 'Second A. E. F.' Looms In Senate

Legislation To Be Presented To Carry Out Requests Of President

SEEK TO RETAIN DRAFTTEES LONGER

Congress Considers Request Of President For National Emergency Declaration

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 22.—The senate headed into another controversy over the "Second A. E. F." issue today as administration leaders rushed legislation to keep draftees, National Guardsmen and Reserves in service.
A heated battle was expected, with Sen. Thomas (D) Utah, pushing his proposal to permit selectees and members of the Guard to volunteer for overseas service.

The proposal was incorporated in Thomas' bill declaring that the national interest is imperiled, which would bring into effect provisions of the draft act under which President Roosevelt could retain draftees, Guardsmen and Reserves in the army.

The chief executive asked congress to "acknowledge" the state of a national emergency and warned that release of the troops after their year's training would be a "tragic error" and a "grave national risk."

Bill Report Likely Monday
As it was generally admitted that the urgent request of President Roosevelt to keep the army intact gained ground, Majority Leader Barkley said he hoped that the senate military committee would report a bill to the senate floor Monday to carry out Mr. Roosevelt's recommendations.

Thomas said that his proposal would retain the provision of the draft law which prohibits sending draftees and Guardsmen beyond the western hemisphere, "but in the event some contingency arose, they could volunteer."

"I did not have in mind occupying bases outside the western hemisphere," he said, "but it might be that we would want to relieve our present troops in China."

New Note Introduced
Sen. Reynolds (D) N. C., chairman of the senate military affairs committee, said, however, that the Thomas proposal introduced an entirely new note in the hearings on keeping the army intact.

"Well people think declaring a national emergency is tantamount to sending troops into China," he said.

At the same time the government ordered the Bolivian charge d'affaires in Berlin to leave Germany within three days.
The German protest, which was handed to the Bolivia government in La Paz by Wendler, branded the Bolivian action as "infamous" and as carried out on "wholly invented charges" of which Wendler was not previously informed.

German officials stressed that the expulsion of Wendler from Bolivia and the order that the Bolivian charge d'affaires leave Germany does not mean severance of German-Bolivian relations. They said both legations will continue to function but that the Bolivian representative in Berlin simply has been informed he is no longer persona grata.

Conferees Agree To Defer Men Over 28; Also To Curb Strikes

By JOSEPH A. BORS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Mandatory deferment from the draft of men over 28 and a curb on strikes in defense industries have been agreed upon by senate and house conferees studying the controversial bill amending the selective service act, members of the negotiating group disclosed today. The conferees ordered the bill drawn in final form, and it is expected to be submitted to both houses for approval late this week.

The senate version of the bill left to the president the power to defer men, while the house insisted that such action be mandatory.
It is understood that senate conferees agreed to accept the mandatory deferment provision of the measure in order to win support in the lower chamber for a strike-curb amendment written into the bill in the senate.

Previously the house defeated overwhelmingly all efforts to include in the bill a provision for the expulsion of Wendler from Bolivia and the order that the Bolivian charge d'affaires leave Germany does not mean severance of German-Bolivian relations. They said both legations will continue to function but that the Bolivian representative in Berlin simply has been informed he is no longer persona grata.

Berlin Report Says Moscow Is Badly Damaged

Says Terrific Night Air-Raid Is Made On Capital Of Russia

ASSERTS RED SQUARE HIT BY MANY BOMBS

British Reports From Moscow Say Damage Done By Raid Not Extensive

By MERRE J. HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, July 22.—A terrific German air attack on Moscow, which may have "disintegrated" the carefully-embalmed body of Lenin in Red Square and rendered the capital unfit as an administrative center, was announced in Berlin today.

The entire Kremlin area was pounded mercilessly for hours, it was said. The heaviest bombs in the Luftwaffe's arsenal were thrown on government and Communist party buildings surrounding Red Square where Russia's military might was paraded annually on the anniversary of the revolution.

Most members of the Soviet government have already left Moscow, it was said, although Premier Josef Stalin and Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov were still there yesterday.

"Keeping in mind the tremendous air pressure caused by the explosion of large calibre bombs," one spokesman said, "Red Square itself probably suffered heavily."

"The mausoleum in its center, where the body of Lenin is enclosed in a glass case, in all likelihood received a shock sufficient to disintegrate it—provided it was still there at all."

Kremlin District Damaged
A statement detailing the night attack insisted that the entire Kremlin district was "severely damaged" by Stuka dive-bombers.

"Moscow was hit hard by heavy Luftwaffe blows," the German announcement stated.

"Bombers and Stuka dive-bombers attacked the Red capital from the early hours of last night. The bombs wrought havoc in the city."

The bin is empty I rather suppose, and the autumn is drawing near, and the fellow who doesn't do something soon, will be without coal I would fear. They tell me the mines are as busy as bees and tonnage is mounting apace, but there's yards to be filled and there's boats to be filled, and you have a wide open space that will need some coal soon, so the tip that we pass is one you should heed, now, today, get your cellar filled up ere the winter begins, it's warm, eighty-seven today.

Two Commissions, Which Is Legal

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, July 22.—Pittsburgh had not one, but two city registration commissions today. Despite the fact the new commission appointed by Gov. Arthur H. James was sworn in at noon, the old commission, through its chairman, Lawrence O. Clarke, refused to leave office and hand over the books, records and keys.

Clarke maintained that his commission stands because the senate did not confirm Governor James' latest appointees. He added that he would retain possession of the office until the courts determine who's right and who's wrong.

DAY'S WAR DEVELOPMENT

last night the British force attacked Mazzarino in Sicily and Bengazi and Derna in Libya.

Eyes of the world were kept also on the situation in the Orient. A British radio broadcast said all reports from the Far East "continue to support the belief that big developments are imminent. It is reported that a large-scale mobilization is proceeding throughout Japan."

Berlin protested to Bolivia against the expulsion of Ernst Wender, German minister to La Paz. The Bolivian charge d'affaires was ordered to leave Germany within three days, and the German government said that charges against Wender were "fabrications."

Moscow announced that heavy fighting continued throughout the night on the battle fronts facing Moscow and Kiev and south of Leningrad. On the front beyond Smolensk, the Germans said, Nazi forces successfully repulsed Red army counter-attacks. While many "iron rings" closed in on the Russians, the Germans announced that a Nazi tank formation on Sunday captured 10,000 Reds on the Dniester river sector of the front.

In Tokyo, the chief foreign office spokesman, Koh Ishii, announced Japan will abide by the tripartite pact with Germany and Italy. He said there will be no alteration in Japanese foreign policy as a result of the recent cabinet shift.

During the night German planes bombed the British ports of Great Yarmouth, Lowestoft, Alderburgh and Falmouth. British bombers attacked Frankfurt and Mannheim in Germany and bombed the docks at Cherbourg and Ostend. This morning the R.A.F. hammered a military camp on the west coast of Denmark.

MOSCOW RAID ONLY MEDIUM BLITZ ATTACK

Moscow and doing really effective damage than is the case with London.

There was plenty of noise but nothing in the way of panic last night and this morning. Moscow's anti-aircraft guns went off at an ear-shattering rate and the Russian sky took on the familiar "British pattern" of criss-crossed searchlights and the white and red streaks of tracer bullets.

MOSCOW CLEANS UP AFTER FIRST NIGHT AIR RAID

German forces are attempting an offensive against Leningrad. The communique said:

"Stubborn fighting continued throughout the night on the Pskov, Polotsk-Nevel, Smolensk and Novograd Volynsk sectors.

"In other directions there were no large scale operations."

The high command added that 32 enemy planes and eight Russian machines were destroyed yesterday. An official announcement said more than 200 Nazi planes attempted to penetrate Moscow defenses but that only a few isolated planes reached the city.

Seventeen Shot Down
Seventeen of the Nazi raiders were shot down. The attackers dropped bombs which started a few fires within Moscow's city limits and which killed and injured an unspecified number of persons.

Authorities stated no military objectives were hit.

The Soviet high command's earlier military communique, meanwhile told of continued "stubborn fighting" on the Polotsk-Nevel, Smolensk and Novograd Volynsk sectors, adding that no heavy activity occurred on other sections of the sprawling front.

On Sunday and Monday, the communique said, German air formations twice attempted to raid Leningrad, Russia's second largest city and its former capital in the days of the czars.

The German planes that attacked Leningrad, the communique stated, were intercepted by strong Russian formations which shot down 11 Nazi machines during the first attempt and eight more during the second.

German Losses Heavy

According to the announcement Soviet troops at the front captured a number of German documents, including a report by Major General Wehlin, in which it was stated that German losses in tanks and material far exceeded the material they had captured.

The military correspondent of the influential newspaper Izvestia telegraphed a graphic description of a 14-hour battle at the front in which heavy Soviet forces routed German tanks and infantry.

He reported the battle started when German tanks attempted to storm and capture a number of Soviet positions. He wrote:

"Losing several tanks in the face of artillery fire, the Germans were compelled to launch an attack before carrying out adequate preparation."

"One group of tanks skirted an anti-tank ditch but passed over a mine field. Seven tanks were blown up in several seconds.

"From the Soviet trenches the Germans could be seen jumping from the tank hatches. They were mowed down by machine gun fire.

"A similar fate met two companies of German infantry.

"Meanwhile the tanks continued to advance, and then the Soviet batteries opened up with head-on fire. Ten tanks were put out of action.

"The Germans brought up troops riding in armored vehicles who hurled grenades at the Soviet trenches.

"Soviet anti-tank guns and machine guns opened up with a terrific fire from the depth defense zone, simultaneously launching a counter-attack and the Germans retired in disorder.

"After mopping up operations were completed it was estimated the Germans lost 39 tanks and that two companies of infantry were wiped out."

telegraph (British) dispatch from Moscow said a tour of the city this morning after the night raid revealed no signs of panic.

"The dispatch said the city appeared normal and that around the Kremlin and the central part of the city and suburbs no damage was visible excepting a crater in Magene Square in front of the American embassy.

"The dispatch stated no one in the embassy building was injured when the bomb fell outside."

German Report

The German announcement stated the attack on Moscow was "comparable to the worst raids on British cities." It added:

"Continuous waves of Luftwaffe planes jetisoned thousands of explosive and incendiary bombs of all calibers until dawn on war-important objectives in the city, causing large conflagrations.

"Moscow's anti-aircraft defenses were practically ineffective, although the anti-aircraft batteries opened a violent fire.

"The Moscow district east of the Kremlin, harboring the most important government, military and Communist party buildings, was partially wrecked and gutted.

"These buildings included the radio headquarters building of the Red army, the civil air force headquarters and several commissariats.

"Large conflagrations were observed south of the city, later developed into a veritable unbroken sea of flames, indicating the entire district was largely ruined, including the Red party administration building and the government power and electricity works."

Submarine Sunk

In addition it was announced that a German submarine sank a Soviet submarine in the eastern part of the Baltic Sea yesterday.

Authorities in Berlin also declared that on the front beyond Smolensk, where the German forces are pushing against Moscow, Nazi forces successfully repulsed Red army counter-attacks, inflicting severe losses on the Russians.

In addition destruction of a Soviet warship in the Baltic under German naval gunfire also was announced.

German artillery along the Latvian coast bombarded light Soviet naval forces and sank one ship. The announcement said, adding that the other Russian naval units immediately steamed away.

At the same time German military circles said dramatic surprise moves, designed to overpower the Red army by means of Chancellor Hitler's newest blitz tactics, were unfolding along the smoking eastern front.

to war" he asked "Will they think allowing men to be sent overseas is an act toward war?"

Sen. Wheeler (D) Mont., non-interventionist leader, assailed the plan, declaring "that could be one way of dodging the issue of war so far as congress is concerned."

"Congress ought to keep a very tight hand on the question of whether or not we should send troops beyond the western hemisphere. Congress ought to be consulted whether to send troops to Asia, Africa or Europe, and particularly whether they are to be sent into combat zones where their presence might involve this country in war."

Seem To Favor Declaration

A majority on the military affairs committee appeared to favor a declaration that the national interest is imperiled. Barkley disclosed that there is division on this point in the senate, however, even among administration supporters.

Sen. Taft (R) Ohio proposed a definite time limitation on extended service for selectees and Guardsmen.

"A declaration that the national interest is imperiled would extend their service indefinitely," he said. "The war might last 10 years."

"I plan to ask the military affairs committee to adopt a plan where, for example they might require 18 months training, but take in and discharge about 75,000 selectees each month."

Reynolds said that no selectees will be called from camp to testify on the extension proposal, although he has received letters on the proposal from draftees. He opposed disciplining draftees who protest extension of their service. Wheeler and Taft also have received such communications.

"Why hasn't a man a right to express his sentiment?" he asked. "We are not in war. We still have freedom of speech and the constitution." The senate committee may conclude its hearings on the pending service extension bill tomorrow.

Announcing the Installation of A SPECIALLY DESIGNED DRY CLEANSING UNIT for Delicate Garments

The reason for the installation of this new unit is easily explained when it is taken into consideration that the materials in the finer garments, more and more during the past few years, are of a synthetic nature, and, therefore, require extreme care in the cleansing process.

LaGuardia Willing To Seek Third Term

Mayor Of New York Says He'll Run If Nominated By Republicans

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 22.—Republican chiefs today planned to call a meeting of party leaders within the next two days to decide whether to endorse Mayor F. W. LaGuardia as a third-term candidate for the chief executive post of New York City.

LaGuardia, who already has been endorsed by the American Labor and City Fusion parties, last night declared in a radio address that he would accept the GOP nomination if the party chooses to put him on the ballot but that he would not seek it.

The mayor firmly rejected proposals that he enter the Democratic primary against William O'Dwyer, Brooklyn's racket-busting district attorney. He said his appearance on the Democratic ballot would only "confuse the issue."

LaGuardia said that announcement of his candidacy did not mean that he intended to relinquish his post as national director of civilian defense. He disposed of the dual problem with a comment that "everybody is working harder now, why shouldn't I?"

LaGuardia's candidacy, if successful, would make his tenure in the New York City hall longer than that of any other occupant. Elected in 1933, after an unsuccessful attempt to unseat Tammany in 1928, he was re-elected in 1937 and would serve until 1945 if he completed a third term.

Annihilation Of Soviet Regiment Claimed By Nazis

(International News Service)

BERLIN, July 22.—Composed of one third women and the remainder regular army soldiers, a Soviet regiment was "annihilated" during repeated attempts to break through a German trap northeast of Smolensk on the Moscow front, German military authorities announced today.

The controversial senate amendment as originally drawn would permit the president to seize strike-bound defense plants "if both parties to such dispute have failed to utilize existing government conciliation and mediation facilities." It also "condemned" strikes or lock-outs under such circumstances.

Most bitterly opposed by representatives was a provision that would have imposed a stiff penalty on anyone convicted of "preventing or attempting to prevent by force or violence or by threats thereof, any person from accepting or continuing in employment in any defense plant."

That provision was fought vigorously by labor unions and turned down by house members on the grounds that it would virtually wipe out the worker's right to picket a struck plant.

Final passage of the bill would automatically defer from military service all men over 28. At present men in that age group are being deferred temporarily upon orders of selective service officials.

Both are at liberty on bail. The charges were preferred by Acting Chief of Police R. A. Crivello.

CUT NON-DEFENSE SPENDING

GOVERNMENT spending is attaining a dizzy momentum. Estimates of expenditures for this fiscal year have had to be revised upward several times as new requests have come from the executive branch for additional billions.

The Bureau of the Budget first arrived at a maximum outlay this year of $19,000,000,000. Then it was raised to $22,000,000,000 and the House Ways and Means Committee set out to provide additional revenue of $3,500,000,000 to put into effect the treasury formula for limiting borrowing. With the latest appropriations asked by the White House, this sum will be insufficient and Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau admits the tentative fiscal program may have to be reviewed in its entirety.

The gross public debt at the moment is in excess of $49,000,000,000 against the World War peak of $26,596,000,000. Undersecretary of the Treasury Bell was quoted recently on the floor of the house as placing the debt at $61,000,000,000 next June 30, on the basis of the then budget figures. That may be taken as a conservative total, but it would be the equivalent of one-fifth of the whole national wealth of $294,481,000,000, as estimated by the National Industrial Conference Board.

It is not only this year but next year and the year after that Americans must look to. Authorized expenditures for defense already almost equal the present national debt figure. So far as this astronomical outlay is necessary for the defeat of Hitler, there will be no complaint. But the situation serves to emphasize and justify the demand that non-defense expenditures be cut to the bone. The disturbing fact is that the evidence of such reductions is almost nil, despite Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's public statement that they could be cut $1,000,000,000 a year.

The finger of responsibility cannot, unfortunately, be put on any one spot. In some instances the blame rests with executive departments in seeking larger appropriations than are warranted. Then there are powerful blocs in congress, that have no hesitancy in seeking to raid the treasury. All of course are ostensibly in the cause of national defense. How that cloak has been stretched to the limit!

As one means of putting a check on the spenders and wasters of public funds, defense or otherwise, creation of a joint budget or fiscal planning committee has been proposed. The function of this body would be to survey the entire appropriation and revenue fields, coordinating spending and revenue and introducing economies where possible.

How effective such a plan would be in present times, particularly in controlling deficiency bills, is problematical. What is needed most is stronger public opposition to profligacy as against a too ready acceptance of the explanations offered for it.

BOLIVIA QUICK TO NIP NAZI PLOT

The Bolivian government has acted with commendable speed and vigor in repressing what bore all the earmarks of a threatened Nazi putsch. By proclaiming a state of siege and simultaneously ordering the German minister out of the country, the government nipped the plot in its earliest stages.

Not only would a Nazi-inspired revolt in Bolivia have been a disturbing factor throughout South America but it would, as the Germans undoubtedly intended, have interrupted shipments of tin to this country and Great Britain. Bolivia is rich in war-vital tin and tungsten and its production of the former metal is exceeded only by British Malaya and the Netherlands East Indies.

It is fortunate, as in the case of Uruguay, where an even more intensive Nazi drive for power was defeated last year, that the Bolivian government refuses to be either intimidated or bribed into submission by German agents. Only two months ago the German air line operating in Bolivia was expropriated by the government—an important blow at Nazi penetration plans.

But the Hitler officials, agents and spies spread thickly through South America keep pounding away, regardless of discouragements, at their disruptive program. Turned down in one republic, they pop up in another, promoting revolution and discord and tearing down by whatever means available Latin-American ties of friendship with the United States.

It is only by such decisive steps as that taken by the president of Bolivia, and by Latin-American collaboration on complete hemispheric defense against Nazi aggression and infiltration, that the German menace can be effectively counteracted.

ICELAND GIVES APPROVAL

The Parliament of Iceland (oldest in the world, having existed continuously for 1000 years) voted 39 to 3 to approve the co-operation of American forces with British to prevent possible seizure of the island by the Nazis.

Three Icelanders voted in the negative. They were Communists. That's odd, since the official Communist line, now that Russia has been invaded, is "Everything to beat Hitler." Now you might have assumed that to prevent Hitler from seizing Iceland was helping to beat him. But not to these Icelandic Comrades. How come?

The only way we can explain it is that Iceland is remote, and that telephone and telegraph connections with the Kremlin are not all the Comrades might desire. So there they were, caught hanging to last week's line instead of this week's.

Now that American Marines have landed and have "the situation well in hand" in Iceland, it is going to bulk large in the news henceforth. Events that take place in Reykjavik are going to be as important to us as the situation in London, Washington or even nearby Pittsburgh.

People who know the truth can discuss it frankly if they are willing to take the consequences of offending the ignorant.

Hitler's war communiques repeatedly refer to Leningrad as "Saint Petersburg." Perhaps it is Saint Helena the Fuehrer has in mind.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph.D.

ANGRY PARENT CAN'T HELP CHILD

Many parents are not temperamentally able to help their children with home work. It is safe to say that any parent who grows angry and impatient with a child over his lessons hinders more than helps.

In order to learn well, the child must feel comfortable and hopeful. He must succeed most of the time. His successes inspire him to greater efforts. So also is his dynamism of interest recharged as he achieves. As his failures pile up, on the other hand, he finds it harder to keep interested, harder, therefore, to strive to do his best.

How terrible it must be for the child when shouted at or called a dumbbell while he tries to do his lessons! He has not meant to make mistakes or be difficult. He is already disgusted with himself for his mistakes. Then to have a parent shame and scold him, shriek at him, or call him ugly names is more than the child can bear.

Be Understanding

Yet the parent has not meant to be so mean. He or she would be willing to make almost any personal sacrifice in order to help the child succeed at his lessons. Nevertheless, the parent is lacking in self-control and sympathy and ability to put himself in the child's place. On the contrary, this parent abounds with a feeling of superiority and a readiness to lord it over his child—not on purpose, mind you, but in sheer obedience to Grandma Nature.

"Dear Dr. Myers, I am a reader of your column and a very nervous person. I have a boy of 10 years but I cannot seem to get any results from him. He will do everything to get away from his lessons. This has been going on since he started school, and I don't know how much longer I can stand it as I am unable to help him and when his father is home it is still worse because he is also nervous. Would appreciate any advice you can give me. Also please send me a copy of your Parent's Prayer. A stamped envelope is enclosed.

Doctors Answer

I can see how eager you are to help your boy. Also I can see why he will do everything to get away from his lessons. In his place you and I would do likewise. Just imagine yourself in this boy's place with an angry, nervous mother and father shrieking at you every time you hesitated or said or wrote the wrong thing in your homework. Do you suppose you could work hard at them? How could you have the heart to try? Wouldn't you just give up on this lad?

If you and Dad really want to help your child at school you will quit trying to help him with his lessons, until you are able to change yourselves completely. Instead, you will tell him more jokes and show keen interest in all his interests, and successes however small. You will celebrate his victories but say nothing about his failures and defeats. Above all, you will show him in your voice, smiles and attitude more love and affection so as to assure him he is a worthy member of his family.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. My ten-year-old boy is a poor reader and I want to help him this summer. Please advise me how to go about it.

A. If he has a brother or sister under six, urge him to read to this younger child. Otherwise he might find one or several younger children in the neighborhood who would like to be read to. As he reads to a younger child he naturally will read from easy books, the very kind he should read from to improve his own reading. You may have a copy of my "Home helps for poor readers" by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three cent stamp.

Just Folks

When the pistol is at the back And the sword is near to thrust, Men submit to the attack. And their hearts will not rejoice. And their minds will not agree. When they gain the strength for choice.

Might by right will beaten be. When the knife is at the side And the lash is near to sting, Frightened people must abide. Under many a monstrous thing; But though suffering be long And the future dark to see, Never forever by the wrong Will what's right confounded be.

All the ruin wrought by force, All the evil gained by might, Will eventually run its course. And give away unto the right. For though men submission give Unto power because they must, Still the love of right will live. That they'll never blow to dust! (Copyright, 1941, Edgar A. Guest)

The great majority of Americans are interested in what will be done in Washington to curb price racketeers. Those who have things to sell will try to get all they can for them. That is not good for those who do not have anything to sell, but have to buy.

Then she had an inspiration, and exclaimed: "My dear, I bet it's that Mardi Gras we've been reading about."

Question: How is the double ring ceremony handled in a wedding?—Bride.

Answer: The bride must buy her bridegroom's wedding ring, and he must buy hers. The maid-of-honor may carry the bridegroom's ring or the bride may carry it herself. In the latter event, she may wear it on her own wedding ring finger ever her glove, or on her little finger.

When you make your arrangements with the clergyman, be sure to tell him that yours will be a double ring ceremony that he may let you know when, during the ceremony, you should place the groom's ring on his third finger of his left hand. This is usually done just before the bride has received her ring.

Question: I wish to purchase new draperies for my living room. My suite of furniture is rust, rug green and woodwork light. What color draperies do you suggest?—Mollie.

Answer: Of course, the color of your walls, your lampshades and other objects must be taken into consideration. Gold curtains would be attractive, or those of gold or beige background with designs in colors harmonizing with your furniture.

Threat Of Falangism Causes New Worry
Spain May Cause Unrest In South America
Spanish Republicans Were Pro-CommunistBy CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, July 22.—State departmental whisperings hint at considerable wondering if Spanish Falangism isn't more of a threat against unity between the United States and Latin America than either German Nazism or Italian Fascism.

The Falangists (Falange Espanola), Spanish corresponding to the Nazi and Fascist parties in Germany and Italy, are a much more recent setup, under Caudillo Franco's leadership, than Fuehrer Hitler's or Duce Mussolini's groups, and weren't recognized in Washington, until the Axis-Russian war started, as a possibly very disturbing influence in opposition to Pan-American solidarity on the side of the rest of the world's democracies versus totalitarianism. Now it's beginning to be suspected that it's an influence to be seriously reckoned with.

As has been noted before, the so-called republic with a pretty strong Communist tinge, which preceded Caudillo Franco's present Falangist regime in Spain, was violently anti-Catholic. Consequently when Franco and his Falangist followers launched their campaign to overthrow republicanism, it naturally had a powerful appeal to Spanish Catholicism, which still was strong.

The republicans put up a stiff fight and might have won but for the help Franco received from Germany and Italy. Herr Hitler certainly and Signor Mussolini probably cared nothing for Franco on religious grounds, but they evidently assessed him as a prospective dictator they could manage to their own advantage. Commissar Stalin, though, preferred the republicans, presumably because of their Communist leanings, and aided them all he could.

Well, Franco and his Falangist alignment triumphed. I don't say that the Spanish Catholics benefited politically by being totalitarianized, but it's undeniable that Franco doesn't oppress their church and the so-called republicans did.

Hitler's Version

Now the Axis starts battering at Russia. Herr Hitler proclaims it as a "holy war" against pagan Communism. It's the bunk of course. No doubt Communism is pagan, but that isn't why Adolf went to war with it.

Yet, consider the understandable celebration of a Spanish Catholic Falangist. He's a Falangist, not necessarily because he's inherently Falangist, but because his church was being persecuted and Falangism put a stop to it. In all likelihood it did so to gain Spanish Catholic support, not because Caudillo Franco has much religion in his own system, but it did it, anyway. And the Russian Communists tried to aid the church's persecutors to stay in power. The Axis, on the opposite hand, helped to lick 'em.

As between the Axis and the Russians, at war today, which one is such a chap might as well sympathize with? And what kind of a hit does it make with him to have Winston Churchill and President Roosevelt come out for Russia, even on an only temporary emergency basis?

Well, all accounts from Spain are to the effect that Falangism is 100 per cent anti-everything-and-everybody. (Continued On Page Seven)

The Problem Of Promises

WASHINGTON, July 22

IT is true that as far as he has gone—and he has gone pretty far—the President has the support of a large majority of the people in the foreign policy he has evolved and in the steps he has taken to implement that policy. Every test of public opinion shows that. The response from press, people and Congress has been reassuring and convincing.

BUT soon he must go farther. No informed person, whether favoring or opposed, thinks the Iceland occupation is our final move. In the course we have elected to follow one step inexorably follows the other. They constitute a sequence and a series, leading straight to the one end—full participation in the fight to defeat Hitler. No matter how it may be disguised, that is the fact. However compelling the presidential necessity not publicly to state this, nothing else reconciles our policy with reason. No one around Mr. Roosevelt has any other idea. No one near him expects us to stop with Iceland. The next step—whatever it may be—is inevitable. It is even now being contemplated. If the Germans speedily conquer the Russians it probably will be accelerated. If the Russian resistance continues effectively it will be timed for a later period. But that another means of making our weight effective against the German forces soon will be found—and used—can be accepted.

LIKE the steps we have taken, the next step is justified as essential for defense. On the theory that the existence of a Europe dominated by Hitler is a threat to our independence and security, anything we do, including shooting, can be regarded as defensive. But, soon or late, the time will come when full frankness with the people upon the part of the President becomes imperative—that is, if he is to be supported in the last steps by the kind of national unity indispensable to last steps. It would be unfortunate, indeed, to have to take the last step, if it meant loss of confidence in him by any considerable number of people who have trusted him.

AND that is exactly what will happen if he continues steadily toward the inevitable end, while (Continued On Page Seven)

THE "DIPLOMAT"

Diplomats are born, not made. A great diplomat has been described, frequently, as one who could lie and lie and lie without the lie being detected.

Seriously, however, the ability to make the "recount courteous" is a great asset. The ability to think fast and do so the unexpected thing at the right time is not the prerogative of every citizen.

Edward A. Sothern was a great English actor, the father of the equally famous, Edward H. Sothern. The father was a gentleman of rare understanding and tact.

Once when he was a member of Laura Keane's company, he incurred the displeasure of the great actress, and was summoned to receive the due notice of censure.

Edward's presence, he quickly remarked, "Before you utter a word, permit me to turn down the gas-light," turning it down as he spoke. "Why do you do that?" he exclaimed.

"Because," answered Sothern, "I can endure anything you have to say; but I cannot bear to see those beautiful eyes blazing with passion and that lovely face distorted with rage. Go on now and say whatever you please."

What woman could be angry at receiving such a lovely compliment? Certainly not Laura Keane.

Record Demand For Telephones

Over 500 Added Here In Period Of Six Months This Year

BIG INCREASE IN NUMBER OF CALLS

Impact of the national defense program and related industrial activity upon the telephone company is reflected in the record breaking demands for telephone service in New Castle and vicinity.

Paul J. Baldwin, district manager for the Bell company, reports that an unprecedented rush of new installations produced a net increase of 509 telephones in the New Castle exchange between January 1 and June 30. This is five times the growth of the first half of 1940 and as of July 1, brought to a total of 11,207 the telephones served from the local central office.

The number of calls also is rising sharply, Mr. Baldwin said, imposing heavy demands upon the company's facilities. The average for June reached a high of almost 69,000 originating calls a day. This means more calls per day than it did a year ago. The daily total includes more than 2,100 out-of-town calls which are up 27 per cent above last year.

Since the first of the year, 43 employees have been hired to take care of the extra load and to fill vacancies in the local district headquarters forces which numbered 225 on July 1. Installation of additional telephone switchboard equipment is now under way. Later this year both the local and long distance switchboards will be enlarged so as to accommodate 13 more operators. Meanwhile the company recently began construction of an additional cable line.

Throughout the state the Bell company is now serving more telephones and handling more calls than ever before in its history, Mr. Baldwin said. During the first half of 1941, the number of telephones increased by 49,850, and the volume of calls has reached a new high of 6,800,000 a day. In order to keep as much ahead of the service demand as possible, the Bell company will spend 30 per cent more on new construction this year than last. The company has about 1,600 more employees on its payroll than it had a year ago.

Familiar Disease Placards Discarded

Announce Several Changes In State Health Rules Today

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, July 22.—Under new regulations, announced today by Dr. A. H. Stewart, acting state secretary of health, it is no longer necessary to placard homes for five communicable diseases.

For the first time since the practice began 36 years ago, placing of the familiar sign on doors in cases of measles, whooping cough, chicken pox, German measles and mumps has been discarded.

Dr. Stewart explained the change as adopted by the advisory health board of the department since it has been clearly demonstrated that the quarantine of homes for these diseases cannot prevent their spread.

The provision eliminating the placards specifies that "no child or other person ill with any of these diseases shall leave his own premises until the lapse of the number of days specified by the advisory health board for each disease."

Five other changes in health regulations as adopted by the board are:

1. Cases of bubonic plague, cholera, leprosy, psittacosis, Rocky Mountain spotted fever, typhus fever, and yellow fever shall be handled by the health secretary or his representative. Local authorities should notify state officials of such cases.
2. The quarantine period for infantile paralysis reduced from 21 to 14 days.
3. No time limit established for placing bodies in coffins where victim died of cholera or meningitis.
4. Private funerals required for those who have died of certain diseases but funeral services may be held in public places.
5. Children with infectious skin diseases such as scabies and impetigo must remain away from school until recovered.

No New Moves Being Planned By United States

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 22.—Chairman George (D) Ga. of the senate foreign relations committee, said today following a White House conference that he had gained the "impression" that this country has no new moves planned in the international field despite rumors that additional foreign islands in the Atlantic may be seized.

George, along with undersecretary of state Sumner Welles and Sen. Connally (D) Tex., conferred at length with Mr. Roosevelt. George said that the conference was for a general review of the entire international situation and added that it was his conclusion that "no new steps are contemplated by this country, for the time being at least."

The discussion, he said, took in the far eastern situation, the South American and European developments.

It had a bearing, George added, on Welles' public statement yesterday that he expects Germany to attempt to conquer new territories if Russia falls to the Nazis.

U. S. Would Buy Russian Materials; No Ships For Service

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 22.—Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones disclosed today that the United States has offered to purchase unlimited supplies of Russian manganese, chrome, and other strategic materials.

The only difficulty, Jones told a press conference, is the lack of shipping facilities to transport the materials to this country.

Negotiations for American acquisition of these strategic products were initiated a week ago by Soviet Ambassador Constantin Oumansky with the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. The Russian government, in turn, is seeking to purchase war materials such as machine tools, fuel, and other equipment in the United States.

"The Russian government will be glad to sell us strategic materials if the shipping facilities can be obtained," Jones explained. "For the present, however, there is no American shipping available for this purpose."

Jones added that it might be possible to use some of the dozen or so Russian vessels now berthed in American ports. He said that no decision on this proposal had been reached.

News And Views From Pennsylvania Capital

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, July 22.—Many legislators expect Governor James to call a special session next year to reappoint the congressional districts of the regular session, due to the failure of the regular session to reach an agreement on this before adjournment. . . . If he does, Governor James will follow the example set by his predecessor, Robert E. Pattison, in 1883, when he called the general assembly into special session without reappointing the senatorial and representative districts. . . . It took the special session 183 days to agree upon a reappointment plan.

If Governor James calls a special session, he may also include among the subjects to be considered that of unemployment compensation. . . . Bills to increase the benefits to unemployed workers from the $150-600,000 state unemployment compensation fund failed when Senate and House were unable to agree upon divergent proposals to agree. . . . The chief stumbling block to an agreement was the refusal of the Senate conferees to give their approval to a plan of benefit payments to partially unemployed persons.

Reappointment has always been a thorny problem for legislatures to solve. . . . This is not the first time the legislature has failed to retime the congressional districts. . . . In 1890, two congressmen were elected at large, due to the legislature's failure to pass a reappointment bill. . . . In 1910, four were elected at large for the same reason.

As for senatorial and representative reappointment, there has been none for two decades. . . . The state constitution decrees legislative reappointment every 10 years, but provides no penalty for failure to do so.

Popular "Bob" Woodside, Republican minority leader of the House, is a candidate in Dauphin County for common pleas judge. . . . He has two opponents in the Republican primary, Judge William M. Hargest and Thomas D. Caldwell, Harrisburg attorney. . . . On the Democratic ticket, former State Sen. George Kunkel has entered the race and former Judge J. Dress Pannell and Ex-County Commissioner J. Douglas Royal are circulating petitions.

Pipe Lines Bill Awaits Signature

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, July 22.—The house today completed congressional action on the pipe lines bill and sent it to the White House.

The measure would authorize construction of pipe lines, either with public or private funds, from the oil fields of the southwest and west to the Atlantic seaboard states to relieve a gasoline shortage caused by transfer of tankers to Britain which ordinarily transported the fuel to the east coast.

PASTOR CUTS SERMON

(International News Service) HILLSBORO, N. H.—Rev. Frank A. Coad, pastor of Smith Memorial church had to cut down a two hour sermon to a maximum reading time of 30 minutes in order to keep parishioners happy. . . . The modern sermon lasts only 20 to 30 minutes. Parishioners asked Rev. Coad to preach one of the sermons left by former pastor Rev. Jonathan Barnes, delivered when the two-hour lectures were in fashion. As a result the editing was necessary in order to give parishioners what they wanted without forcing them to sit still for two hours.

Wilted string beans will look and taste better if revived by soaking in cold water for about 30 minutes before cooking.

A. C. Hyde Came To Mahoningtown Just 51 Years Ago

Recalls Seeing Locomotive Jump Track Into Old Canal On First Day Here

Mr. Hyde established the Hyde Drug company at the corner of Washash avenue and North Liberty street, a business which is now carried on by his son, Alfred M. Hyde.

Aged Mother Of Late Dr. William McIlhattan Dies At Her Home In Knox, Pa.

(International News Service) GREENSBURG, Pa., July 22.—Shock induced by the death of her son, Greensburg superintendent of schools, today caused the death of Mrs. Margaret Anna Pickens McIlhattan, 75, of Knox, Clarion County.

Only a few hours after Dr. William H. McIlhattan, 51-year-old Greensburg school head, succumbed from a heart attack, his aged mother collapsed and died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. C. V. Starr, in Clarion.

Hints On Etiquette

The Great Game Of Politics

ignoring the personal promises which assured the country we should never reach that end. Some of these promises already have been broken. Senator Taft, in the Senate last week, enumerated them. Others have done and will do so. They were contained not only in the Democratic platform, which the President dictated, and in the lend-lease bill, but were reiterated in his own speeches. He denounced those who suggested that any armed forces would be sent outside our borders and repeatedly voiced his determination to keep the United States out of war.

THERE is no use discussing whether these pledges were political or whether it was necessary to make them. The point is they were made and now, when Mr. Turner Catledge wrote in the New York Times, "the only sure way this country has of keeping out of the actual fray is for peace to be restored quickly in Europe, and no one seriously entertains the notion that that is possible"—now, these pledges are embarrassing. Something has got to be done about them. There are still too many people who believe that Mr. Roosevelt can and will make them good. There is too much likelihood of an unfavorable reaction when the discovery is made that they do not hold.

OF course, there is but one thing to do about them and that is to be completely candid. The President himself should point out that when these promises were made he was deeply convinced that they could be carried out and that he has done his utmost to carry them out. No fair man, however opposed to him, will question his sincerity on this score—unless Mr. Roosevelt chooses to continue taking the steps sure to lead to war, while still encouraging people to believe that we are not going to participate in the war—unless attacked.

THE whole murky national atmosphere can be cleared and his domestic foes disarmed by stating with perfect frankness that unforeseen events have made the rigid adherence to these promises dangerous to the United States; that for the safety of the country and the success of the course to which we are committed, it is no longer wise to be bound by them; that, therefore, while still hopeful for peace and anxious not to enter the war, he must withdraw these promises, so as not to be handicapped in acting for the national interests. There is little doubt that to such a statement, made in the way the President can make it, the people would wholeheartedly respond. There is little doubt that they would understandingly absolve him alike from the charge of insincerity and of seeking to take away from the isolationists the chief weapon with which they strike at him. It would leave no excuse for bitterness or resentment upon the part of the great masses of peace-loving people who want to stay out.

ON the contrary, failure to take the people fully into his confidence before taking those last steps, which already are in contemplation and which neither his political nor military aides believe can be averted, risks a bad reaction. The hope is that Mr. Roosevelt will deal with these promises in a way to insure the respect and confidence of the country. It can be done and it should be done before the next step. The effect would be to stimulate and unify the people as nothing else has done.

body who's pro-Russian, regardless of the temporariness of it.

Furthermore, our diplomats in Latin America report that Spanish Falangist agents are being rushed by the boatload into that part of the world to do missionary work. Chances are that they're being financed from Berlin. Spain couldn't afford it. A Spanish Falangist is a damned sight better propagandist there than a German or an Italian.

Germany and Italy have sizeable Latin American colonies, but they're nothing to compare with the Spanishness of those republics. That isn't true of Brazil, which is Portuguese, but Brazil's largely Catholic, and that item also enters into the equation.

Uncle Sam Worried It's too soon for the state department to have sized up the prospect very fully, but it's obviously worried. Foreign Minister Ezequiel Padilla of Mexico made a speech the other day in which he said exactly what the department would have him say if it had written it for him itself. His version was that the democracies' indorsement of Russia is only for just now, that it doesn't imply the slightest sympathy with "pagan Communism."

But how effective Minister Padilla's talk will be, in competition with an army of Falangists' chatter, the department isn't sure yet.

Drastic Shakeup Among Officers In 28th Division Today

(International News Service) INDIANTOWN GAP, Pa., July 22.—The drastic shakeup of high ranking officers in the 28th division today was described by Col. Benjamin C. Jones, Tyone, division chief of staff, as "in line with Brig. Gen. Edward Martin's policy of seeing that officers do not get in a rut."

"The move is no reflection on any of the officers affected, but rather it will afford them a better opportunity to round out their experience," Col. Jones said.

"Furthermore, it gives headquarters an opportunity to obtain executives trained in headquarters routine in the event some key post has to be filled," he added.

Jones explained the sudden shift in the division's personnel as just a "routine move" and said it was ordered by Gen. Martin to give added experience to line officers.

In one detail, war never changes. Each side always says the other "can't stand cold steel."

Avert Strike Of Erie Employees

(International News Service) ERIE, Pa., July 22.—City officials today had averted a threatened tie-up of municipal services by agreeing to pay recalcitrant truck drivers five cents an hour more.

Some 272 men in four departments had voted to strike unless their demands were met, and would have hampered garbage collections, street and park cleaning.

State Selectees Given Message

Every Man Inducted Into
Army Receives Letter
From State Director

TELL MEN WHAT TO TAKE ON DEPARTURE

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 22.—Every recruit inducted into the U. S. Army from Pennsylvania through selective service receives the following personal message from Dr. William Mather Lewis, state director.
"When in times of grave emergency it becomes necessary for this nation to ask its people to share in the common defense, it is imperative that each man do his part. Every one of us has a task to perform. Yours is the part of a soldier—a service upon which tradition imposes a high honor.
"You have received your notice to report for training. In a few days, you will go to your local board headquarters and proceed from there for induction into the United States Army.
"It is a new life to which you are going and in order that you may be made smoother the following suggestions are made:
"1. If you are unemployed, register with your state employment office before you leave. It will help you get a job when this national task of yours is completed.
"2. Travel light. If you wish, take a small bag with a few clean clothes, a few handkerchiefs, socks, soap, towel, and necessary toilet articles. These are not essential as you will be issued necessary equipment by the army but they may come in handy should there be any delay in your induction into the service. Soldiers are permitted to wear civilian clothing while off duty outside of the post, and in some commands, they are permitted to wear a white shirt with the uniform for dress purposes although such a shirt is not furnished by the army.
"Therefore, you may take such articles with you but they are not necessary. Leave jewelry, large sums of money and other valuables at home for they may easily be lost. If possible, take a little spending money for such needs as you may have before your first pay day. Take some postal cards or stationery and stamps, a fountain pen, and an inexpensive watch if you have them.

"3. Leave your automobile or motorcycle at home. If you are accepted, your commanding officer will tell you whether you may have it at the post, and if so, you may have an opportunity to get it.
"4. It takes time for the army to assign you to your permanent military unit. Keep in touch with your friends and family but ask them not to write to you until you have a definite and complete address to which mail will be delivered. As soon as you are inducted into the army, your nearest relative will be advised as to your whereabouts, so don't worry about being out of touch with your family in the event of an emergency. They will know where to call.
"5. At the reception center, the army will classify you, that is try to find the type of job in the army which you can do best, in which you will be happiest and do the best for yourself and for your country. Before you go to the classifier think back over all the jobs you have had, how long you worked at them and exactly what you yourself did in them. Give all the information asked for. It will be for your best interest.
"6. Keep your eyes and ears open. Obey orders in the best way you know how and you will succeed.
"7. Go to it cheerfully, soberly, and alertly. Your country needs your help, otherwise you would not have been called. With your assistance our nation will achieve its goal—the maintenance of the free heritage to which we were born."

AROUND CITY HALL

A nice tribute was bestowed on police Monday afternoon at headquarters by Isaac Anderson of West Washington street. He had received a tag for what was believed to have been a violation of the parking ordinance. However, when he visited police headquarters, he informed Acting Chief of Police Criswell and Sergeant Syling he had attempted to deposit a nickel in a meter slot at least 10 times and upon each attempt the nickel had bounced out. After he had left the auto, a tag had been put on it. When he visited the police he informed them of the occurrence and said that he violated no laws and praised police. He declared that, in his mind, police are the finest body of men in the world.

He described how police make lonely patrols at night, often times through snow or rain. Anderson also asserted police are mindful of their obligations and are ready to protect young and old alike. After hearing the West Side gentleman, Sergeant Syling turned to Acting Chief of Police Criswell and remarked:

"I believe that, because of this man's remarks, he should not be requested to pay for this tag. The acting chief of police said he believed the man's story, thanked him for his utterances then wrote 'Excused' on the back of the red tag.

Incidentally it might be mentioned that when people place a nickel in a meter slot they should not turn the crank rapidly. If they do, the coin will bounce out. The crank must be turned slowly. The autoist has 60 minutes parking for five cents.

Mercer Plans To Collect Aluminum

(Special To The News)

MERCER, July 22.—J. H. McWhirter, chairman of a committee of local citizens selected to make plans for the collection of used aluminum for use of national defense, announced today that the collection will be made Monday and Tuesday, July 28 and 29.

Utensils and other aluminum articles will be collected throughout the borough by members of three Girl Scout troops of Mercer.

The local drive is part of a nationwide campaign for national defense industry.

Auto Fatalities Running Ahead Of Last Year's Mark

Five Deaths Are Reported So Far During Month Of July This Year

After lagging during the spring months, automobile fatalities are now running ahead of last year's figures, County Coroner T. F. Nugent reports.

Twelve automobile deaths occurred during the first seven months of 1940, but with over a week to go, that number has already been equalled. Saturday night's fatalities brought the number of 1941 to an even dozen.

Not a fatal accident occurred in Lawrence county between February and May, the coroner states, but six have occurred since that date.

Chlorine Supply Will Be Adequate

State Will Have Sufficiency Despite Increased Defense Needs, Says Official

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 22.—Pennsylvania is assured of an adequate supply of chlorine for public health requirements despite a greatly increased demand caused by national defense needs, Dr. A. H. Stewart, acting state secretary of health, revealed.

Explaining that there have been rumors of a serious shortage of chlorine which must be used for the disinfection of public water supplies, in the treatment of sewage, and in swimming pools to make the water safe for bathing, Dr. Stewart said:

"We have been advised by Surgeon General Parran of the United States public health service that the Office of Production Management has indicated that the use of chlorine in the sanitation of public water supplies, sewage treatment and at public swimming pools, will be given consideration on a par with that for defense purposes."

Operators of the various water and sewage plants and swimming pools in the state were notified by Dr. Stewart in a circular letter of the assurance from Washington. They were urged at the same time not to hoard the disinfectant because of the fear of future shortages.

"If this practice should be widely followed," states the letter, "it might result in interference with the plans of the Office of Production Management in giving chlorine preferential treatment. This particularly applies with respect to shipping containers, of which there is a scarcity."

Dr. Stewart further suggested that if difficulty was experienced in securing chlorine, he be promptly advised in order that the health department may help to obtain a sufficient supply to meet the normal needs of any of these plants.

State Capital Savings and Loan Association to Albert R. Crowl, 2nd ward, $1.

Monday was a big day on the hill, at least in the office of William A. Eakin, chief clerk to the board of county commissioners. It was the last day for filing petitions for nomination at the primary, September 2, and as usual the majority of the candidates left off filing until the last day and in many cases the last minute.

By noon a host of papers had been filed for election board posts, in some cases 10 and 12 of them being filed at a time. For the major offices the list is not as large as usual, and in at least two major offices there was no opposition to sitting officials.

The deadline for filing is past. Candidates who are not filed now cannot file. Persons who wish to run independently still have some time to file if they wish. A candidate running as an independent may file up to within 20 days before the primary.

Judge W. Walter Braham handed down an opinion Monday in the injunction suit of Wyatt R. Campbell against the Neshannock Presbyterian church in which Mr. Campbell asked that the church be restrained from prohibiting the use of any lowering devices at grave sides except the equipment specified by the church.

The opinion is a decree nisi and refuses the petition of the plaintiff and orders him to pay the costs. The decree can be excepted to within a period of 10 days and if no exceptions are filed then, the decree becomes absolute.

MERCER, July 22.—Officials of the Remor Manufacturing company today announced that the work-week at the local plant has been increased from 40 to 45 hours.

The increase in hours was made because of unusually early placement of orders for fall delivery of heating equipment, in addition to the national defense business that is being done by the company.

Sir Walter Scott was not entirely dependent on his writings for a living. For 25 years he was sub-sheriff, a sort of justice of Selkirkshire, and also a clerk of the court of Edinburgh, Scotland. The two positions paid him about $8,000 a year and took little of his time.

U. S. ARRANGES HUGE LOAN FOR GREAT BRITAIN

Loan Is Made Through R. F. C.

Will Meet Debt Contracted In U. S. Prior To Lease-Lend Bill

HALF BILLION PUT UP AS COLLATERAL

By ERIC FRIEDHEIM
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, July 22.—The United States government, through the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, today authorized a loan of $425,000,000 to the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland to pay for American war materials ordered before enactment of the Lease-Lend bill.

Approved by President Roosevelt and Federal Loan Administrator Jesse Jones, the momentous financial transaction will permit the British to acquire much-needed dollar exchange without liquidation of their American investments at forced sale. The R.F.C. announced the loan at 3 a.m. E.P.C. (Noon British time).

Put Up Collateral
As a guarantee for repayment of this huge credit, which will be paid out at the rate of $100,000,000 a month, the British put up as collateral some $500,000,000 worth of American securities and insurance stocks.

The R.F.C. announced the loan will be repaid over a 15 year period and will bear interest at three percent per annum. The maturity of the loan may be extended another five years if two-thirds of the principal has been repaid at the end of 15 years.

To repay the loan, the British government will turn over to the R.F.C. the annual earnings of 41

American branches of British insurance companies. These branches have earned approximately $36,000,000 a year for the past five years. The R.F.C. estimated that these 41 branches have approximately $200,000,000 in cash and U. S. government securities above reserves necessary to meet obligations to their policy-holders.

"This loan is made under specific authority granted the R.F.C. by congress in an act approved by the president June 10, 1941, for the purpose of providing the British with dollar exchange without having to sell their securities and investments at forced sale," the R.F.C. explained.

British collateral for the loan is made up of $205,000,000 worth of so-called "blue-chip" securities listed on the New York Stock Exchange; unlisted stocks of American corporations valued at $115,000,000, and $180,000,000 of capital stock of 41 American insurance companies owned by British interests.

Don't Give Up The Ship If Your Boat Has Been Capsized

Don't Try To Swim To Shore Life Saver Charles Brest States

With amphibious America at the mid-summer peak of the greatest year in the history of water sports, Charles Brest, chairman water safety, Lawrence county chapter American Red Cross, points out that scores of lives can be saved if boating enthusiasts will "stick to the capsized boat—don't try to swim ashore."

The average submerged rowboat or canoe will support as many as four persons until help arrives, according to the Red Cross. In the confusion of capsizing, lives are lost every year when victims attempt to swim ashore.

To those participating in water sports—whether it be boating, swimming or fishing—the Red Cross urges enthusiasts to observe the following "A, B and C's" of water safety:

1. Swim near the shore where a few strokes will bring you to safety.
2. Wait two hours after eating before entering the water.
3. Dive only into water of known depth and condition.
4. Stay with a capsized boat or canoe until help arrives, don't try to swim ashore.
5. Swim only at safe and supervised places; never swim alone.
6. To assist a swimmer in distress in the water use a boat, canoe, pole, ladder, life buoy, rope, or any object that will pull him to safety or any article that will support him until help arrives.

7. A swimming rescue should be attempted only by a trained life saver.

8. Take advantage of Red Cross water safety classes offered by the Lawrence county chapter. Classes are conducted to teach non-swimmers how to swim and other classes to certify swimmers as life savers. Call the chapter house for information, phone 5084.

Housewives In Britain Are Now Using Horse Meat

(International News Service)
LONDON, July 22.—Thousands of English housewives are, probably for the first time in their lives, making use of horse meat in the family meals.

They are mostly North-country and Midlands housewives and the horse meat is contained in a meat roll, or gelatine, which is being manufactured in ever-increasing quantities in London, writes a "Sunday Dispatch" reporter.

"We used to make chicken-and-ham gelatine," Mr. Albert Smith, managing director, stated.

"When it became impossible to get further supplies we had to find a substitute and some two months ago I hit on the idea of using horse meat."

"The roll is perfectly wholesome. It contains ground wheat husks, a fair proportion of horse meat and seasoning."

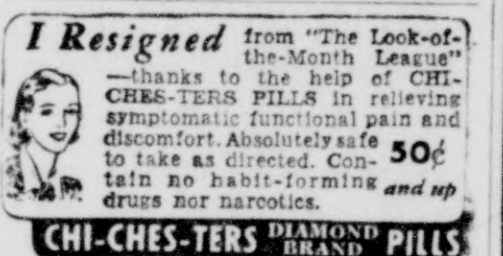

"The meat is not slaughtered locally. It comes to us in sealed metal containers from Lincolnshire, boned."

"With each supply there is a certificate that it is free from disease and fit for human consumption."

"Every stage of the manufacture is carefully watched, and local food inspectors visit the factory three or four times a week."

"Not an ounce of horse meat goes into the roll that has not been passed for human consumption several times."

Factories are making obsolete planes that never will be used. Thus brass-hats avoid confusion of their blunders while waiting for modern designs.

Camp Meeting In Final Week

Estimate 8,000 Attend Services At Mahaffey Camp Meeting Over Week-End

MAHAFFEY, Pa., July 22.—Aided by ideal weather, the largest attendance for a number of years crowded the Mahaffey Park camp grounds two miles to the east of this village all day Sunday. Crowds came all day Saturday and all day Sunday with a conservative estimate of the crowd given as 8,000. The largest number in the history of the camp came to the dining hall where 1,150 were provided for while other hundreds were cared for at the lunch counter.

This great crowd attended religious services held in connection with the 47th annual Eastern District Camp Meeting and Missionary convention of the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

Monday, the convention entered its final week. All indications point to record attendances. Many denominations are represented on the grounds, among them many ministers. Rev. E. C. Anderson of Punxsutawney, district superintendent, and Rev. Fred Henry of Harrisburg, assistant superintendent, are in charge of the camp meeting.

Clams should be steamed in a large kettle. Allow half a cup of hot water for a quart of clams. Cover washed clams closely and steam until they open partially.

Soldier Is Given Furlough To Aid Harvesting Work

(International News Service)
FORT SHERIDAN, Ill., July 22.—Private Johnny Prochaska was on a 30-day furlough from Fort Sheridan today because the oats are ripening around Azalia, Mich., and the home folks there need him to run the community threshing machine.

Azalia's need for Johnny was disclosed in a letter received at Sixth Corps Headquarters yesterday. Signed by 57 of the soldier's neighbors, it said:

"Please permit Private John V. Prochaska to return home. The grain now is ripening and he is the only one in these parts who can run a threshing machine." The army complied by giving Prochaska a 30-day leave and sending him off at once, with the promise that if he's needed in Azalia again for the fall harvest, he can have another two weeks off.

Claim Japanese Consular Agencies Aid Propaganda Dies Committee Investigators Assert "Sensational Evidence" Is Secured

By GRIFFING BANCROFT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Dies committee investigators today declared that they have gathered "sensational evidence" regarding asserted propaganda and other un-American activities of Japanese consular agencies in this country.

This evidence, they said, will be made public soon when general hearings on alleged Japanese espionage are started.

Although it was previously announced that evidence is in hand regarding Japanese activities on the west coast, this was the first intimation that consular agencies were involved.

It was recalled that the committee previously uncovered similar evidence about German and Italian consular agencies in this country. This was withheld from the public for many months pending a state department check. It ultimately resulted in the German and Italian consuls being ordered out of the country.

Committee attaches declared, however, that there are no plans in the case of the Japanese to refrain from making the evidence public. It was believed that no attempt has been made to consult with the state department in this case.

Although he declined to disclose the nature of the evidence, Rep. Dies (D) Tex., chairman of the committee, said that "German, Italian and Japanese consulates have been a focal point of subversive activities in America."

"These people, under the cloak of diplomatic immunity, have been carrying on work inimical to the welfare of the United States," Dies added. "It is time we had a showdown on all phases of the question."

Dies made the statement after he announced a meeting of the group would be held soon to outline a long series of hearings which will include, as well as the Japanese question, a further study of asserted communism in the CIO and in the federal government.

The Texan said he would ask the committee to subpoena 600 or 700 CIO people and some 2000 government officials.

Investigators said they plan to call at least 20 witnesses, mainly from the west coast, to testify in the Japanese hearings.

"Our best cases in this matter involve the consular agencies," one investigator declared.

Urge Governor To Veto New Milk Bill

Five Public Health Leaders Give Attitude On New Inspection Measure

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 22.—Five Pennsylvania public health leaders, following a meeting with Acting State Secretary of Health Dr. A. H. Stewart, today urged Gov. Arthur H. James to veto the controversial Moul-Woodring bill which sets up a unified state system for milk inspection.

Those attending the meeting were: Dr. I. Hope Alexander, Pittsburgh health director; Dr. Martha Tracy, assistant Philadelphia health director; Dr. C. L. Palmer, legislative committee chairman, Pennsylvania Medical Society; Dr. A. Parker Hitchens, professor of preventive medicine, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia; Dr. George W. Grimm, Ardmore, District No. 1 milk control officer, and Dr. Stewart.

Declaring that the amendments do not remove the multiplicity of inspections for the farmer, the health officials said:

"These amendments not only repeal present municipal ordinances and prevent the enactment of new ordinances, but they deprive the state health department of their present power regarding the production and distribution of milk and milk products by creating a dairy council, the majority of whom are representatives of the milk industry."

"The present milk control act provides for minimum requirements only. Therefore, no rules or regulations can exceed these requirements because rules exceeding these limits will be inconsistent and the intricate problems in production and distribution in larger cities can in no way be taken care of by local ordinances above these minimum requirements."

Plan Campaign To Bring Industry

Industrial Potentialities Of Rural Pennsylvania To Be Stressed To Nation

By JOHN PAGET
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, July 22.—A $200,000 advertising campaign to sell to the nation unlimited industrial potentialities in rural Pennsylvania was launched today under the supervision of the department of commerce.

Mark S. James, newly appointed secretary, said the campaign was under consideration for four months and would supplement the department's regular "sales promotion" including pamphlets, newspaper and magazine advertising.

"This campaign is designed to catch the eye of thousands of businessmen throughout the nation," he said. "It is built upon 'eye appeal' that is, something that will catch the eye of a prospect and make him want to investigate Pennsylvania's possibilities."

"The advertising will take the form of a folder about the size of a newspaper. It will contain an eye-catching picture and be bolstered by a few pertinent facts."

James said the campaign would be spread over two years and was directed at more than 17,000 businessmen.

"It is an attempt to bring new industries and business into the rural sections of the state where virtually untapped power and material resources are near at hand," he said.

James explained that responses would be closely checked to the 44 sections of advertising each prospect will receive and he predicted the new campaign—unique in the advertising technique used by state agencies—will be a success.

Can you Goose-Step?

With a little PRACTICE nearly anyone can go through all the motions of being the SLAVE of a "Super State."

Just relax. Just say: "Oh, why should I worry about how the country is run or who runs it? Just do as you're told. Don't bother about your freedom or your rights."

You'll be goose-stepping in no time!

Strange as it may seem to the goose-steppers, AMERICANS decided, on the FIRST 4th of July, that they'd RATHER worry a little than to be made into wooden FOLLOWERS.

"We'll try governing ourselves," said these Americans. "Of course, we will have to know all the time what's going on and have to do some THINKING for ourselves. But, if the price of FREEDOM is so reasonable, we will have a try at it!"

"But wait a minute. This wandering around LISTENING to this or that opinion wastes a lot of time. How about offering some enterprising fellow a few cents to go everywhere, report everything EVERY DAY?" So these free Americans reasoned.

Right! NEWSPAPERS were the answer! Not the GOVERNMENT'S newspapers, though—the PEOPLE'S

Grain Yield Of State Is Lower

Secretary Of Agriculture Reveals Yield Will Be Less Than Year Ago

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 22.—Despite the acknowledged need of additional grain this year, Secretary of Agriculture John H. Light revealed that Pennsylvania's yield of this important farm product in 1941 will be less than a year ago.

The latest farm survey by the federal-state crop reporting service, Light disclosed, indicated a reduction in total acreage and a substantially reduced yield per acre, attributed to inclement weather during the early growing season.

Corn is expected to total 53,341,000 bushels compared to 53,640,000 bushels last year; wheat is placed at 17,686,000 bushels compared to 18,594,000 in 1940. Oats, barley and rye all run from 400,000 to 1,000,000 bushels less than last year's total.

Along with the decline in crop production and yield, the cash income of farmers from crops decreased for the month of April by approximately $532,000. The loss was offset, however, by the increase of $3,207,000 derived from livestock and livestock products over the year previous.

The total income from crops totaled $4,591,000 in April this year compared with $5,128,000 in the same month a year ago. Light reasoned, however, that with an increased consumer demand the cash income of farmers should rise to a level substantially higher than a year ago.

In line with a federal government request made in early spring, Pennsylvania is due to harvest a record canning crop of tomatoes, Light reported. He said the tomato acreage was the largest ever planted in the state and contract prices the highest ever paid by canners.

Considering all agricultural products, however, it was learned that wheat prices are up six cents a bushel over last year; corn up eight cents; oats down two cents; barley up two; rye down four; buckwheat down seven; potatoes down 35; apples up 15; lamb up 70 cents a hundredweight; chickens up four and eggs up eight cents a dozen.

Big Increase In Licensed Planes

Gain In Pennsylvania Is Greater Than In Any Other State

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent, New Castle News
WASHINGTON, D. C., July 22.—The increase in licensed airplanes during the year ended July 1 was greater in Pennsylvania than any other state, but the Keystone State lagged somewhat in the gain of certified pilots.

This was disclosed today by Civil Aeronautics Administrator Donald H. Connolly. He reported that certified planes in Pennsylvania increased in number from 972 on July 1, 1940 to 2163 on July 1, 1941. This was an expansion of 122.5 per cent compared with a national increase of only 58.7 per cent in such aircraft.

State making the nearest approach to Pennsylvania's record was Iowa with a 102 per cent pick up. Certified pilots in the Keystone State increased during this period from 2389 to 4109, a gain of only 71.9 per cent. Such pilots in the country at large increased 100.6 per cent in number. Only seven states had smaller percentage pilot gains than Pennsylvania.

On July 1, Pennsylvania ranked second of the states in number of certified planes but only fourth in certified pilots.

TELLS ROTARIANS ALUMINUM 'CALL' WILL TEST UNITY

'Shows We Co-operate,' Rev. Stump Asserts; Lelenko Entertains

New Castle's city-wide aluminum round-up Thursday, July 24, means more than the collection of "insignificant, useless, battered pieces of aluminum," Rev. A. M. Stump, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church, assured New Castle Rotarians yesterday.

"Aluminum is important," said he, "but more important by far is the fact that we are demonstrating our unity. We are showing that we can co-operate in the small things, as well as the large. America needs unity far more than aluminum, or anything else."

The pastor spoke in behalf of the Thursday drive. Boy and Girl Scouts, he said, would call at the homes to pick up discarded aluminum placed on front porches.

Entertainment for the luncheon was left to Amil Lelenko, ace impersonator of the great and near great and entertainer extraordinary, who was assisted in his program by a lovely young vocalist, Lucy Ann Rupert.

Among the luncheon guests was Frank W. Lehmer, retired distributor in Puerto Rico for the DuPont interests, who was the guest of Rotarian Bert Stevenson. Both Lehmer and Stevenson were formerly located at San Juan. P. R. Lehmer is here for a visit and with him are his wife and daughter, JoLove.

Another honored guest was young Robert Mackie, home on furlough from his army duties at Indiantown Gap, Pa. President Clare B. Book recalled to members that Mackie is a former member of the club's Boy Scout troop.

Lawrence Indies Win First-Half Title In City Baseball Loop

Close To 3,000 Fans See Great Pitching Battle With Indies Winning 2 To 1

Elders Enter Protest On Over-Throw, Rote Injured And Leaves Game

Before a crowd of close to 3,000 fans, one of the biggest ever to see a city baseball game in New Castle, the Lawrence Indies last night at Cedar street won the first-half championship of the league by defeating the Elder A. C. team 2 to 1. The game was played under protest of the Elders after the fourth inning.

By winning last night the Indies shattered a "six that Leroy Anderson the Elder ace hurler has exercised over them for quite a spell. The game was one of the best of the season, both teams playing heads up ball and having two hits apiece. Anderson fanned three and so did young Joe Wilk who turned in a fine game. Anderson was the wildest of the two, walking five men, and incidentally he forced in the winning run in the last of the sixth, walking Bill Sovecky the catcher with the sacks loaded.

Coke Rote Injured
Rote the star second-sacker of the Elders twisted a knee in fielding a fly ball in the last of the sixth and had to leave the game. Only two extra-base hits were made—Gibson of the Elders and "Maka" Budal of the Indies.

Despite the five errors charged to both teams, the game was snappily played and the players on both teams gave the best they had. It was simply a case of not being able to hit the ball when hits would have meant runs. The Elders got a man as far as third base in the first inning, but could not score him.

The protest resulted in the last of the fourth when Paul Coulter fielded a bunt and threw wild to first base to try and catch Byak with Henry Koszela who was on first scoring on the over-throw that went into the crowd that was in the right-field section. On the same play Byak went to second, before the ball could be returned to the infield, and during the argument that followed Byak went to third base. It was then that Manager Joe O'Leary entered his protest to Umpire Clem General.

Changes His Decision

Umpire General at first waved Koszela back to third base and then reversed his decision and allowed him to score which he had already done. Byak finally wound up on third base, on the play. The Elders in filing their protest claim that a ground rule was made prior to the game giving a player one-extra base on an over-throw into the crowd.

Both pitchers, Anderson and Wilk, got a big hand from the fans for their work. Neither team had a hit until the sixth inning. Both hurlers were bearing down with every thing that they had, it being too bad that any arguments had to occur, to spoil such great fighting.

Indies Fine Team

Manager Johnny Russ and his players are being congratulated on all sides today and they deserve it, they are a great team, the same team that won the City League championship last year. The Indies will now meet the winner of the second-half for the league flag at the end of the season.

Radiators Win From Ellwood

Defeat Sons Of Italy Of Ellwood 7 To 2, Valentinos Win, So Do Bronze

The National Radiator softball team defeated the Ellwood City Sons of Italy team at the Rad Field last night in a Lawrence County League game 7 to 2, with "Dusty" Rhodes hurling a swell four-hitter.

Rhodes mowed down eight batters on strikeouts during the game. Heavy hitting for the Rads was done by Hordig, Grog, Ross and Dado. Wednesday the Rads play the Johnson Bronzes at Gaston Park Field.

Score by innings:

Ellwood Sons	R	H	E
Radiators	000	200	000
Radiators	032	020	00x
Batteries—Ellwood, Gallagher and Salerno; Radiators, Rhodes and Fornatore.

The Bronzes bunched hits in three big innings to score nine of their runs. The winning hurler was Kendra, the loser being Blinn.

Score by innings:

Bronze	R	H	E
Bronze	303	000	130
Ellport	000	000	030
Batteries—Bronze, Kendra and Henderson; Ellport, Blinn, Zona and Herbert.

VALENTINOS WIN GAME

The Valentinos defeated the Fannins for an upset victory last night at Rose avenue field, 7 to 4. The winning hurler was Irv Rubels, the loser being Dinks Lane. Both teams had ten hits apiece.

The feature of the game was a long homer hit by "Yanks" Alfera of the Valentinos.

Score by innings:

Valentinos	R	H	E
Valentinos	110	201	110
Fannins	020	020	000
Batteries—Valentinos, I. Rubels and Aven; Fannins, Lane and Mills.

WILL PLAY TONIGHT

It was announced today that the Johnson Bronzes and Ellwood City Sons of Italy will play off a postponed game at the Ewing Park Field in Ellwood City tonight.

A WALKATHON

When you think of Johnny Mize in connection with baseball records, your mind bounds to the home run department automatically. The Cardinals' siege-gun first-sacker is in the all-time book another way, too. No National league player since baseball began ever drew as many as six bases on balls in a double-header except Georgia John.

HIGHER THE BETTER

"I'd rather fall from 16 feet than 10," says Pole-Vaulter Cornelius Warmerdam. "The added space gives you more time in which to relax and break the fall."

Yanks-Indians Battling Today

Important Series Starts Today In Yankee Stadium, Feller To Oppose Donald

PIRATES TRIM BROOKLYN CLUB

By LAWTON CARVER

NEW YORK, July 22.—The contest thing to prattle about in these daily dispatches on the baseball pennant races is how one team or the other seemingly has the pennant sewed up or apparently is out of the running, as the case may be, and the hardest thing to do is prove it. Yet, it ought to be pointed out that the American League situation has reached the point where the Cleveland Indians have been backed into a corner and hemmed in by the Yankees. The Indians do or they don't begining today.

After an open date yesterday, except for the Brooklyn Dodgers' ill-advised game with the Pittsburgh Pirates, who won by 8-3, and thus cut the Dodger lead over St. Louis to one game, all clubs were to go back into action this afternoon, with the Indians and Bob Feller against the Yankees here in the parsley garnished piece of resistance.

Depends On Feller

Feller, opposed by Atley Donald, was depended upon by the Tribe to snap the Yankee spell as he has on three out of four previous meetings with the league-leaders this season. And if he fails it will begin to look like Katy-bar-the-door-tight insofar as Cleveland's hopes for a pennant this season are concerned.

The Yankees, as a matter of record, are seven games in front and a simple mathematical process reveals that they would be eight to the good in the event of a win over Rapid Robert.

And they haven't got much room left to fight on—a three-game series beginning today, a series beginning Aug. 21 at Cleveland and another back here on Sept. 14 encompasses the remaining clashes between the two top teams.

This setup would indicate, it seems that if the Indians are going to pull the Yankees down they had better start doing it at 3 o'clock (E.D.T.) today, and keep it up for awhile. It isn't like that any of the other clubs will be able to do it for them. The Yanks are taking them all in stride now to move from seven games back of the Indians to seven in front in recent weeks. During the season to date, the leaders have taken 9 from and lost only four to the Indians, among other things.

Rookie Wakefield Farmed By Tigers

DETROIT—Baseball's highest priced rookie of the 1941 season—Dick Wakefield of the University of Michigan—has been sent to Winston-Salem, N. C., subject to a 24-hour recall.

The sensational outfielder was signed recently by the Detroit Tigers for a reported $45,000 bonus.

CLOSE TO 260,000 AT AQUEDUCT RACES

NEW YORK—A total of $15,430,182 was handled during the 21-day meeting at Aqueduct Race Tracks, $4,820,237 in excess of the $10,627,845 handled in 1940.

An average of $734,770 was handled daily as against $590,441 a year ago.

Total attendance was 258,058, or 63,914 more than last season.

NEW TRAINER

Joe Mergler, former jockey star, is now training the stable owned by Mrs. Robert H. Heighe.

Pitches of this and that:

Joe DiMaggio's 100th hit of the season was a homer. The original Angel, who did quite a bit of growling and grunting here last winter, is boring the blasé Hollywood galleries. Paste Frankie Keller's name on the inside of your shirt. The Newark left fielder, owned by the New York Yankees, of course, has already rifled 27 homers.

Never-heard-of-it before department: Carl Hubbell, one of the best control pitchers in the history of the game, rocked the countryside recently by unloading a pair of wild pitches in the SAME inning.

"Chuck" Medlar, 6-foot 4-inch Penn State ace pitcher, has been bought by the Detroit Tigers. The Nittany star performer has been sent to Beaumont of the Texas circuit.

Statistics released following a survey disclose that football injuries, in both college and high schools, have dropped considerably. Colleague fatalities reduced 66.6 per cent since 1931. Only one fatality was directly due to football, according to records for the 1940 season. The survey covered activity of 616,000 high schools and 65,690 colleges.

Defends Title

Patricia McWhorter

Beating Lorraine Fischer, of New York, in the 100-yard free style event at an American Athletic Union meet in Orland, Pa., Patricia McWhorter of Newark, N. J., successfully defended her A.A.U. title, setting a new pool record of one minute four and seven-tenths seconds.

Burman-Bettina Battle Tonight

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 22.—Chuck Mehan, successful contractor and former nationally known football coach, who has gone into competition with Mike Jacobs as a boxing promoter, will stage his second show at Ebbets field, home of the Brooklyn Dodgers, tonight with Red Burman and Melio Bettina in the feature battle.

Burman, a protégé of Jack Dempsey and among the unsuccessful challengers for Joe Louis' crown, was established a 6 to 5 favorite over the southpaw ex-light heavyweight title-holder in their 10-rounder.

In other battles of the same distance, Lee Savold, Des Moines heavyweight, was 6 to 5 over Solly Krieger, erstwhile middleweight championship claimant, and Pat Comiskey, touted as a heavyweight title prospect until Max Baer stopped him and Lou Nova beat him, was 2 to 1 over Henry Cooper.

NEW TRAINER

Joe Mergler, former jockey star, is now training the stable owned by Mrs. Robert H. Heighe.

With four of the best bunting artists in the game on the squad, it isn't unusual that Brooklyn has won five games via the running squeeze play. Manager Durocher, Dixie Walker, Mickey Owen and Jimmy Wadell rank as four of the most polished bunters in baseball.

Lou Nova is raising a beard in his Maine camp. Maybe he plans entering the ring against Louis with a thick growth—designed to serve as a cushion for the champ's blows.

Van Lingle Mungo, the ex-Brooklyn fireball tosser and Jake Powell, former New York Yankee outfielder, have been placed on the active list at Montreal. Lou Fette, a star major league not too long ago, has been unconditionally released by Montreal. Freddie Hutchinson, slated to pack up for Detroit and the majors, has tucked away 18 pitching victories against a trio of losses for Buffalo.

Bob Muncrief of the rampaging St. Louis Browns, has the Boston Red Sox number. He has trimmed the Bean Eaters three times so far this season. With Reagan and the Mendelsohn on the "ex" list, the University of Pennsylvania football team this season won't be quite so potent, we are reliably told.

West Pittsburg To Play Slovaks

Lawrence Indies Will Play At Ryantown, Croton To Battle Moose

Only three games are listed tonight in the City Baseball league. The Elders and West Side A. C. have called off their game and will play Wednesday night at Marshall field as part of the benefit social being held by the Elder A. C. Wednesday night.

The West Pittsburg "Gas House" gang will be hosts to the Slovak club with Balla or Gonet facing either Braky or Powell, with a possibility that Winters or Dombeck may also take the knoll for the West Pittsburgers.

Croton will play the Moose at Marshall field, while the Lawrence Indies will go to the Sampson street field to play the Ryantown club.

Moose Hold Lead In Sylvan Heights Golf League Race

Defeat Strong Shelby Social Team Last Evening To Maintain Pace

By edging the strong Shelby Social team last evening New Castle Moose managed to maintain their hold on first place in the second half race of the Sylvan Heights League, but they are only a half point ahead of the Union who are showing some real strength.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Sugar Robinson decided Sammy Angott, N. B. A. lightweight champion, in a 10-round, non-title fight last night in Philadelphia and the Old Master of middleweights, Freddie Yarcos outpointed youthful Sammy Secrest, former amateur in a bout over the same distance in Pittsburgh.

Nemacolin Warwick club of Greensboro and Walworth club of Greensboro defeated Eckland 8-5, and Pittsburgh Monarch, 5-2, respectively on the opening day in the Pennsylvania State semi-professional baseball tournament in Vandeventer yesterday.

Boyd Brumbaugh, former Duquesne ace and one of the best backfield men for three years in the national football loop, has signed with the Steelers.

Colby Hanover, black colt, owned by D. E. Fay of York and driven by Fred Egan, won the $4,500 national stake for 2-year-old trotters at the Grand Circuit meet yesterday at Old Orchard Beach, Me., and may possibly become an outstanding possibility for the Hambletonian. Forbes Direct took the junior free-for-all, Martin McKinney the 2-16 bar place, Dorothy Decker the 2-11 bar trot and Gypsy Hanover the 2-16 bar trot. At Empire City, Cls Marion took the Class C handicap.

Don McNeill and Sarah Palfrey Cooke head the netters going into the second round of the Seabright Invitation tennis tournament today.

Horse fans are looking forward to the next Arlington classic when Attention will oppose Whirlaway, 3-year-old king.

Lively Lady, a class Q slopp, captured first in the Universal division of the Chicago-to-Macknaw yacht race.

Red Burman and Mike Bettina fight tonight at Brooklyn. Chick Meehan, former New York U football coach, is staging the battle.

Why Gather Scrap Aluminum Here?

What are they going to do with all the scrap aluminum that is collected? Why does the government want it? Will any of it ever reach defense industries? Why don't we speed up production if we need more aluminum?

There are some of the questions you hear now and then from the barber shop diplomats and the pool room strategists as they discuss the drive for scrap aluminum which climaxes here Thursday afternoon between 5 and 7 on the public square.

Some Of The Answers
What are they going to do with the scrap aluminum? Send it to smelters and re-smelt it, pay the government a set price per pound for the scrap and then use it in various spots where virgin aluminum can be released for use in bombers. Automotive pistons is one place where the scrap aluminum can be used.

Perhaps the finest end the scrap aluminum will serve will be the awakening of the American people to the fact that the United States is the largest producer of aluminum in the world. Germany and the territory it controls puts out more than 900,000,000 pounds per year half again as much as the United States produces.

The metal that has become so scarce, aluminum, is paradoxically the most abundant metallic element in nature. One-twelfth of the earth's surface consists of aluminum compounded with other elements. The trick is to get it untangled from the other elements at a low cost and this the United States has been able to do. The bulk of our bauxite clay, which is rich in aluminum is secured in Surinam, Dutch Guiana. Huge quantities of electric power are needed in the refining of aluminum for the electric current unlocks the secret of the precious metal.

Speeding Up
Production of aluminum is being speeded up but it can't happen overnight. The plant at Alcoa, Tennessee is being expanded to reach a production of 300,000,000 pounds of metal per year and there are other plants. But right now and for the next year, there is going to be a shortage of aluminum and that's why the people of the United States are asked to turn in 20,000,000 pounds of scrap aluminum this week.

A lot of people are helping in the drive in Lawrence County. In the city, the Greater New Castle Association is directing the drive for scrap aluminum with Ross D. Rosenberger in charge. For the county at large Paul Dingley is the chairman. With them are working civic, fraternal, patriotic, and other organizations, and on July 24 between 5 and 7 o'clock the Boy Scouts will cover the city collecting scrap aluminum.

You Have Some
Somewhere in the house you have a piece or two of aluminum which you can toss into the bin on the public square. Put it out on your front steps before five o'clock Thursday afternoon. That pound of aluminum you turn in will release a pound of virgin aluminum which can be used for a bomber or pursuit plane.

There is a need for volunteers to help unload trucks Thursday afternoon. The Legion and the V. F. W. are asked to provide enough men to get the trucks unloaded. The bin on the public square has to be filled and if you do your share it will be filled.

Stronger Wool Is Produced In State

Average Yearly Yield In Pennsylvania Is Around 3,000,000 Pounds

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, July 22.—With the defense program swinging into full speed and the demand for top grade wool rapidly increasing, the department of commerce pointed out that wool from Merino sheep, raised in southwestern Pennsylvania, is stronger than wool produced in Australia.

According to the latest available figures of the department of agriculture and the Pennsylvania State college, 9,842 state farms clipped 379,000 sheep and lambs for a total of 2,842,000 pounds of wool in 1939. The average yearly poundage of wool produced in this state in the past 25 years is estimated at 3,000,000 pounds.

000, more than any other eastern state.

One-half of the 404,000 sheep in Pennsylvania are of the Merino breed and are grazed in Greene and Washington counties in the southwestern section. There are, however, ample flocks of sheep throughout the commonwealth since 32 counties have wool growers' associations.

Pennsylvania also leads the Middle Atlantic states in certain classes of wool machinery, according to statistics in the National Association of Wool Manufacturers' bulletin. In woolen and worsted looms, this state leads New York and New Jersey. Pennsylvania also is first in worsted spindles and second to New York in woolen spindles.

Another observation by the department was that the key stone state led all eastern states in the amount of wool shorn from sheep in 1938 and 1939. In the latter year the average was 7.5 pounds of wool per sheep and the year before 7.3 pounds.

Westinghouse Is Building Plant

Plant To Produce Steam Turbines And Gears For Maritime Commission

(International News Service)
PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—In answer to demands for propulsion equipment for merchant marine ships, Westinghouse Electric and manufacturing company is erecting a $22,000,000 plant to produce steam turbines and gears for the U. S. maritime commission.

Located in Lester, Delaware county, the new plant will be an adjunct of the Westinghouse South Philadelphia Steam Division works, declared R. A. McCarty, vice president of the firm. More than 1,500 workmen will be employed there.

"The one-story building, containing nearly nine acres of manufacturing space, is scheduled to be completed in eight months," McCarty added. "Machine tools will be installed and in production in about 16 months."

Steam turbines to be delivered annually from the new factory will have enough horsepower to drive 100 ships carrying 1,000,000 tons of cargo, the Westinghouse official said, adding:

"The South Philadelphia works, employing 5,000 workmen, now is building turbines, gears and auxiliary equipment for more than 100 navy fighting ships. In addition, propulsion apparatus for 30 cargo vessels and tankers is being manufactured."

The 1,500 additional men to be employed at the Lester plant will be drawn in part from the South Philadelphia works. Apprentice and learner courses conducted in the plant will be greatly expanded. Seven hundred are being trained at the present time. Four to 10 months are required to fit a man for operating machine tools used in manufacturing ship equipment.

Manufacturing equipment will include 16 big machines to cut teeth on steel marine gears. These will be enclosed in air-conditioned rooms so temperature changes will not affect the finish. The new shops will make approximately 1,200,000 stainless steel turbine blades a year.

Germany Appropriates Britain's "V-For Victory"

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 22.—Nazi Germany has appropriated Britain's "V for Victory" campaign and plastered every nook and corner of the Reich and occupied lands with a "V" which stand for a German "Viktoria."

A broadcast from Berlin heard in New York by CBS described in detail how streets, theatres and hotels had changed their names to "Viktoria" as "Vs" made their appearance by the thousands in cities under German domination.

The broadcast follows:
"For the first time, this morning the German press reports in countless articles and pictures of the tremendous viktoria campaign, which has swept through the occupied territories. The German motto, Viktoria for Europe—Victory for Europe—has taken Holland, Belgium, Norway, the protectorate, the government general (Poland) and France by storm. All public squares and buildings in Prague have been decorated with great red and white banners with the letter V, and the motto viktoria. The victory of greater Germany in war is the victory for Europe in peace."

"The street cars and automobiles all over the protectorate carry the sign of the large V, on the front and on the sides. Prague's largest movie theatre has already been renamed Viktoria. . . . Great, illuminated signs have been put up all over the city, and all official cars carry the V sign, for the German victory."

"Since Saturday, all important newspapers in the protectorate carry on the front pages, a great red, superimposed V. All night, the capital is given a festive appearance by the large, illuminated V, erected on the flagstaff. Colorful red and white viktoria flags are also waving from the towers of the Charles bridge and the Laubensburg, Prague's main business street has now been renamed Viktoria street and the well known Bartha hotel has followed suit."

"In all the cities of Holland, huge transparent signs, carrying the letter V have appeared. Millions of viktoria pamphlets have been dropped by planes over Amsterdam, Rotterdam, the Hague and provincial cities. The official cars of the Dutch civil and military authorities are now stamped with the V, and hundreds of thousands of Dutch people are wearing the orange victory pin. In Dutch newspaper columns, the German war communique, prominently in a heavily outlined box on the front page, headed with the motto Viktoria—Germany's victory on all fronts."

The reading of the German communique on the Dutch radio is introduced and concluded with the three dots and one dash, which signifies V in the Morse code, followed by the announcement that the V sign means viktoria, Germany's victory."

Throughout Belgium, too, cars and trucks carry the same V sign. Large V signs have been put up in all main points of the principal cities, and even the windows of private houses have been decorated with the viktoria symbol. The Belgian papers also carry the V on the front page.

Plan Emergency Ambulance Service

Station Wagon Corps Is Being Organized In Home Defense Program

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—Emergency ambulance service for the main line area of suburban Philadelphia will be provided by a station wagon corps now being organized as part of the National Home Defense program. The Red Cross and the Lower Merion township police are co-operating on the project.

One hundred volunteers are needed to man the unit for which registration is now under way. Station-wagon owners are being asked to volunteer their machines and to supply a driver from their family of employees. Drivers will be trained under the direction of Sgt. Joseph Mawhinney, head of the accident investigation squad of the police, who will also drill the corps.

Red Cross officials believe suburban areas contain numerous station wagons and that such vehicles are easily converted into ambulances by replacing the rear seats with stretchers.

Details of the plan include dividing the corps into squads, the township into sections, and the setting-up of depots throughout the township for storage of stretchers and supplies. The drivers will be taught first aid, proper operation during an emergency, and the execution of orders from a central authority. The vehicles will be marked for recognition and to speed their progress through traffic.

Edward W. Shober, of Haverford, is chairman of the Station Wagon Owners' Association.

A kind word often turneth away wrath. An unkind word often turneth away appetite.

Emotional upset may cause loss of appetite or increased appetite. An unhappy or beloved child may react with a kind of gluttony. He stuffs at meals and in between meals, becomes fat and unlovely. Parents find fault, he feels more unhappy, and eats more and more. Adults react similarly in their emotional and mental lives.

Loss of appetite and loss of weight lead to depressive states. Loss of appetite may cause emaciation and even death. A healthy person enjoys his food. Loss of appetite is due to physical, mental and emotional illness. For such individuals medical advice should be sought.
